GLOBEFORM ANALYSIS

LIBERTANGO has been one of the best juveniles operating over sprint distances in Europe this year, and she takes the best form to this tricky 5.5-furlong contest. She deserves to be the favorite but morning line 5-2 is plenty short enough, while bookmakers offer no more than 13-8 and 6-4. She may be the best on all known form but she can't be seen as some sort of a lock; there are so many potential improvers in opposition and a one turn sprint can throw up so many different scenarios. Libertango has three wins and two runner-up results from five starts, all over 6 furlongs. She won the Albany Stakes at Royal Ascot back in June, was second to next out G1 winner Senorita Bonita in the Duchess of Cambridge at Newmarket in July, before winning the Lowther Stakes at York in August (beating next out winner Star Of State half a length). That win was worth GF 107 and she improved to Globeform 110 as she ran second, beaten just a length by Juvenile Fillies Turf favorite Sun Goddess in the prestigious Cheveley Park Stakes at Newmarket in September. Libertango has what would normally be seen as a good draw in post three; but this daughter of No Nay Never has been tardy from the start on a couple of occasions and she comes from off the pace - so she is not the type to take advantage of an inside draw. She has an obvious chance, but she's a favorite it's tempting to bet against.

BRICKYARD BELLE makes a lot of appeal after having won both of her starts for trainer Miguel Clement, who has carried on producing classy turf sprinters, just like his late father Christophe did year in year out. Brickyard Belle won impressively by 4 1/2 lengths when making her debut over 5.5 furlongs at Saratoga in late August, coming from off the pace to outclass her rivals. The form was given a nice boost when her runner-up, Follow Your Heart, won a similar contest by 6 3/4 lengths at Belmont Park on her next outing. Brickyard Belle stepped right up in class and went for the 6-furlong Matron Stakes at Belmont. Run just over five weeks after her debut, the Matron attracted an interesting field, including the fast Schuylerville winner HARPER'S CORNER (see more on her below), who set a strong pace and looked a possible winner for a long way. Until Brickyard Belle came with her late kick, that was; displaying a classy turn of foot she cut into the pace-setter's lead quite swiftly, went by her to win by half a length, and galloped out well. In short; she was much the best. The daughter of Yaupon broke well in the Matron but Manuel Franco elected to slow her down a bit early and rate her some three lengths off the pace. Traveling with great zest all the way she could have been closer had he had wanted her to. She performed to GF 99p first time out and improved to Globeform 105p in the Matron. That's a rating putting her just a couple of lengths behind Libertango and Brickyard Belle is definitely open to further improvement. This is not a race to get heavily involved in (too many unknown factors in the mix) but bookmakers are offering 5-1 about Brickyard Belle. That's big enough to get me interested. >>>

MOONRISE improved her form when finishing fourth, 1 3/4 lengths behind runner-up LIBERTANGO, in the 6-furlong Cheveley Park Stakes over 6 furlongs at Newmarket in September, having won the Princess Margaret Stakes at Ascot and the Sirenia Stakes at Kempton Park over the same distance on her two preceding outings. A prominent filly who can be a bit keen in her races, led all the way at Kempton and she set the pace in the Cheveley Park, which was won by the high class Sun Goddess. Drawn by the rail, this Churchill filly may be set for a perfect trip - if she is fast enough compared to the US trained contenders - and she should be respected.

PRIMETIME EMMY, a Francis Graffard trainee who comes from an Australian family that has produced some very good juveniles that were both fast and precocious, did not fare so well at the post position draw, landing in gate 12. It's going to be a challenge but she's an interesting contender with progressive form. She won the 6-furlong Eclipse Stakes at Chantilly by just at short head from Scythe, but Primetime Emmy - who came with a smooth run from the middle of the field - seemed to be value for more than the bare margin; and she returned Globeform 104p in the process. Scythe ran third in a G2 event over the same course three weeks later, while the third and fourth home in the Prix Eclipse had run one-two in a Listed race in July.

HARPER'S CORNER will love this cut-back in distance after having set the pace when caught late and beaten half a length by BRICKYARD BELLE in the 6-furlong Matron Stakes at Belmont Park, and morning line 8-1 makes this daughter of Speaker's Corner a value bet. Bookmakers even offer 16-1. A fast filly who fits jockey Paco Lopez like a glove, she was making her first run on turf in the Matron; having produced very smart form on the dirt track at Saratoga, where she won the 6-furlong Schulyerville by open lengths going gate to wire; and then ran second to Summer Starlet in the 7-furlong Spinaway Stakes. Summer Starlet beat her by almost five lengths but the last furlong of that contest wasn't Harper's Corner's cup of tea - and don't forget that Summer Starlet was runner-up to Emphatic, who is a strong Juvenile Fillies contender, in the Alcibiades. Switching to turf and going down in distance was the right move with Harper's Corner - and she's in with a winning chance here.

VELOZEE is the joker in the pack. Judged on her best performance, she should not at all be as big as her 20-1 morning line. Based on all of her six other runs, that price looks closer to what she deserves to be. She ran by far her best race when third in the Phoenix Stakes over 6 furlongs at the Curragh in August, when she was no more than 1 3/4 lengths behind Sun Goddess, who won the race by 1 1/4 lengths from Folsome Blues. Those two are also going to be in action today, both with a serious winning chance in better fields than this one, and it's hard to dismiss Velozee in the Turf Sprint. She was a length behind Moonrise in the Princess Margaret Stakes in July, while her most recent start was not as good. Likely to go off at a big price, she should be included, at least to some extent, in Trifecta / Superfecta plans. If she jumps back up to her Phoenix form she can hit the board.

MUSSAB, a tough sprinter coming off three sprints in England, moved up to Globeform 104 when grabbing the lead a furlong out to win the 5-furlong Cornwallis Stakes at Newmarket in October. He could still be on the upgrade and he is one of many potential Trifecta fillers in the Juvenile Turf Sprint.

FORCE NOIR also needs to be considered, having found sudden improvement to get second in the Middle Park Stakes at Newmarket last time out; beaten a neck by the impressive Royal Ascot winner Orthodox, with HELL OF A SPIN a length behind him in third.

FINAL OJECTIVE comes here with similar form, having won the 5-furlong Flying Childers Stakes at Doncaster, where he beat CROWDBREAKER by a neck. His preceding performance was just as good; a game runner-up effort 3/4 length behind Arapaho Gold in the Gimcrack Stakes over 6 furlongs at York. >>>

GLOBEFORM'S BREEDERS' CUP SERVICE

CONCLUSION: Small bets only in this race, folks. Libertango and Brickyard Belle stick out, with the latter chosen as the selection because she has more upside and has experience around a bend. She may also have a tactical edge with better cruising speed. Libertango thus becomes the obvious B-horse but let's have one other on that line; namely Harper's Corner. She will have to make use of her speed early on from gate ten, but her speed may prove to be well superior; she's really fast; and if we are backing Brickyard Belle to win what's wrong with a Trifecta / Superfecta plan where we need her Matron Stakes runner-up Harper's Corner to also finish in the top four? Nothing at all. The C-line below has six names; it could have been more but that's not really offering an opinion, right? Go as deep as you are comfortable with; and keep stakes low. This mad dash is just the starting point to a horseplayers' marathon.

GLOBEFORM ANALYSIS

EMPHATIC has won all of her three races and she put up a high class performance when winning the Alcibiades Stakes over 8.5 furlongs at Keeneland four weeks ago. Coming off wide margin wins at Colonial Downs and Monmouth Park - where she took the Sorority Stakes by 5 1/4 lengths - she went up against the impressive Spinaway Stakes winner Summer Starlet, who went off as the 4/5 favorite. With her 4 3/4-length win at Saratoga on the, she looked the one to beat - but Emphatic turned out to be the best horse in the seven-runner event. Tyler Gaffalione sent her straight to the lead and she ran on gamely to hold a challenge from Summer Starlet at bay, winning readily by 1 1/4 lengths. Summer Starlet slipped and lost her balance by the five-furlong marker, something that did not help her cause; though she was soon back on an even keel, and the way Emphatic stayed on it's hard to think that she could have been pegged back in any case. With Summer Starlet checking in 17 1/2 lengths in front of the third placed Oh She Said Yes, the top two both excelled, confirming that they are high class. Emphatic improved to Globeform 115p. Oh She Said Yes failed to hit the board as second favorite in the Rags to Riches Stakes on Sunday, but she ran well enough in fifth place to back the Alcibiades form up. Winning the final prep is by no means a guarantee of success in the main event - but Emphatic holds a serious chance in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies.

MISS MONICA is the principal threat and some early odds makers have put her up as the favorite. Representing Bob Baffert, this twice raced filly also takes an unbeaten, impressive record to the table. She made all to win a 6.5-furlong maiden at Del Mar with ease on her debut in August, and followed up with a very smart performance in the Del Mar Debutante, contested over 7 furlongs a month later. The Early Voting filly was held up just off the pace that day, and she traveled with great zest looking like a winner every step of the way. Let loose coming into the short stretch, she quickened away to win by 6 1/4 lengths from Crazy Hot Mess, who was 1 1/2 lengths better than Holmby. Holmby had previously won the Sorrento Stakes (with Crazy Hot Mess third), and she went on to run second, beaten 7 lengths by DOMAIN EXPANSION, in the Oak Leaf Stakes at Santa Anita. Miss Monica moved up to Globeform 111 with her Del Mar Debutante win; a very high rating for a second lifetime start. She will be getting a two-turn stamina test at the Breeders' Cup, but she hit the line hard at Del Mar, running much like horse that would stay further and 8.5 furlong might not be a problem. Her dam, the winless American Pharoah mare Lipstikliensnlovers, is a daughter of Cherokee Queen, who won the Suwannee River Stakes over 9 furlongs / turf at Gulfstream Park as a 4yo.

DOMAIN EXPANSION seems to be underrated by many observers. Bookmakers have had her as big as 8-1 in the early betting and that doesn't reflect her chances. Leonard Powell has a high class filly here and she would probably be a much shorter price if she was in a high profile barn. She has been under the radar also in California. A 20-1 shot on her debut over a mile on turf at Del Mar in early September, she stayed on late to get up for second behind Dash. A month later she turned up for a much bigger task at Santa Anita, going for the 8.5-furlong Oak Leaf Stakes. Sent off at 14-1, she raced more like a short priced favorite all the way. Racing in second saving ground by the rail, she was a bit too free, but not in an aggressive way, and the race changed by an unusual scenario on the home turn. Domain Expansion dropped back to fourth for a few strides, was then pulled wide while making a smooth move to get back up. She was by far the strongest down the home straight and won by 7 lengths from Holmby, before galloping out very strongly. Make no mistake, this scopey, attractive daughter of Speaker's Corner is well above average. Her distant runner-up in the Oak Leaf had won the Sorrento Stakes and been third in the Del Mar Debutante Stakes on her two preceding starts (beaten 7 3/4 lengths by Miss Monica in the Debutante).

LEXI'S CHARM has two wins from three starts and the one miss was on turf, when she ran fourth to Go for Launch in the Bolton Landing Stakes over 5.5 furlongs at Saratoga, where she had won over the same distance on the main track on her debut. Go for Launch was an odds-on loser in a minor stakes at Woodbine next time out but we don't need to worry about that formline, as Lexi's Charm turned a corner when put back in a dirt sprint on her subsequent outing. She was 5/4 favorite for an allowance heat over 6 furlongs at Keeneland on October 7. Leading all the way (pulling early on in the race), she ran out an impressive 12-length winner and improved to Globeform 104p. The competition was not of stakes quality but she certainly looked like she is, and this is a longshot worth a second look as she takes a big step up in class. Lexi's Charm will probably win graded stakes events but the big question this week is whether she will relish the 8.5-furlong distance. A shrewd $15,000 purchase, this daughter of Cigar Mile winner Lexitonian is a half-sister to Stormy Embrace, a back to back winner of the 7-furlong Princess Rooney Stakes at Gulfstream.

CONCLUSION: Emphatic is top rated, she is proven over this course and distance, and she has a clear tactical advantage in that she can go to the lead and set her own pace; probably a pace that makes this a stamina test. She won't be a big price but she simply has to be the selection. Miss Monica has no two-turn experience she she finished her last race off strongly and promises to stay this trip; if so she poses a big threat. The third choice is Domain Expansion and she is the value bet in this event. Her Oak Leaf win was impressive and remember, that was only her second race and the first over a dirt track. Virtually guaranteed to improve, she should not be seen as a longshot with big odds; she's a win contender.

GLOBEFORM ANALYSIS

AMUSINGLY was deeply impressive when winning the Prix Jean Luc Lagardere over 7 furlongs at Longchamp in Arc day in early October. Going up against the boys while cutting back in distance after having been beaten in the 8-furlong Prix d'Aumale a month earlier seemed like an unusual move, but trainer Francis-Henri Graffard is a horseman in the same league as more seasoned handlers like Aidan O'Brien and Charlie Appleby and he clearly knew what he was doing, saying "I made a mistake running her over a mile, this filly is all about speed - it will be interesting to see what happens". Interesting it was indeed. The daughter of No Nay Never came with an incredible run from off the pace to beat the Irish trained favorite Folsome Blues, who is a leading contender for the Breeders' Cup Juvenile. He was exiting a wide margin win in the National Stakes at the Curragh and considered to be one of the best 2yo colts in Europe. Read more on his record in the Juvenile Turf preview.

Amusingly, who was 10-1, came absolutely swinging on the bridle and she could be called the winner well over a furlong out. Jockey Colin Keane had a tight hold of her and she was still passing horses, then quickened sharply to get to the lead. Folsom Blues did put up a fight, but was never a serious threat. Amusingly won by 1 1/4 lengths, with three other Juvenile Turf contenders; Man's Best Friend, Florida Bay and Avec Toi filling the places behind Folsom Blues. Graffard's filly improved to Globeform 116p with this performance, a very high rating for a young horse having only its third start. She will probably be campaigned over 6 and 7 furlongs in Europe next year but a mile around Keeneland should be within her compass. Interestingly, Graffard sent her to the small venue Compiegne for her debut in June, where she was a very comfortable winner over 7 furlongs going around a left handed bend. Was he thinking Breeders' Cup already at that stage? Her next task was the Prix d'Aumale at Longchamp in September, when she was beaten a neck by the English raider Rogue Passion, who had won an allowance race on her preceding start (but disappointed in another G1 next time out). Data, who was beaten just a head by GREEN EMPRESS in the Prix Marcel Boussac four weeks later, checked in third in the Aumale, 3 1/2 lengths behind Amusingly; who had a rough trip and - as her trainer explained - did not quite stay the mile. Rogue Passion caught her late to win by a neck. Amusingly owns high class form already, she represents a top class team that's had an excellent season, she is is open to further improvement and she's the selection. William Hill bookmakers offer 4-1 about her as these lines are written three days out. That's definitely a price worth taking.

SUN GODDESS is also a high class filly but much more exposed and it's a bit strange to see her at 8-11 and Amusingly at 9-2 for the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf. This Aidan O'Brien trainee has built up some reputation with 6 wins from 8 starts. Yes, you read that correctly. This 2yo daughter of Sioux Nation will be making her ninth start on Friday. As a comparison, her year older stable companion Diamond Necklace; who was also a dual G1 winner at two, will also get her ninth start as she goes for the BC Turf on Saturday. She ran four times at two. Sun Goddess has had a much harder campaign, and she has been thriving on this program. After beating Folsom Blue by 1 1/4 lengths in the 6-furlong Phoenix Stakes at the Curragh in August she was sent to England for a valuable race restricted to juveniles bought at the Doncaster Sales. It was big drop in class and Sun Goddess won by 6 lengths despite some serious traffic problems. Next up was the 7-furlong Moyglare Stud Stakes back at the Curragh and this is where she really impressed; overcoming a tardy start to get to a position not far behind the pace and then powering away for a strong 6 1/2-length win over subsequent Prix Marcel Boussac winner GREEN EMPRESS. The latter was not suited by the soft ground that day and the margin probably flattered Sun Goddess. Still, it was an excellent performance, moving her up to Globeform 113p, and she confirmed that rating by winning the Cheveley Park Stakes over 6 furlongs at Newmarket 13 days later. It was a quick turnaround and it's obvious that her connections have decided to make the most of her first season. Like in the Moyglare Stud, she was odds-on favorite and she went in again; this time not quite as flashy but definitely with determination. Taking the lead from off the pace, Sun Goddess stayed on too well for her rivals and won by a length from BC Juvenile Turf Sprint contender Libertango, with ALWAYSANANGEL beaten 2 1/2 lengths in third place. The way she won at Newmarket suggested that she wants further and a mile will probably suit her ideally. She's a strong win contender. >>
GREEN EMPRESS franked the Moyglare Stud form when winning the Prix Marcel Boussac over a mile at Longchamp. Gaining her second group win she came from off the pace and won by a head from Data, who was a bit unlucky without a clean trip. Data finished third in the Prix d'Aumale on her previous start, beaten 3 1/2 lengths by runner-up AMUSINGLY. Queen Of The Day, like Amusingly trained by Graffard, ran third beaten 1 1/2 lengths in the Marcel Boussac; and she had been 1 1/2 lengths second to Data when they filled the exacta in the Prix Six Perfections at Deauville back in August. These are interesting formlines and Green Empress has to be respected in the Juvenile Fillies Turf. Drawn by the rail she might get a good ground saving trip - 'might' is the right word because she has been an off-the-pace runner in her two most recent (and most important) races.

ALWAYSANANGEL is an interesting contender stepping up in distance after having produced some eye catching performances over 6 and 7 furlongs; distances that are clearly too short for the daughter of Harry Angel. Her sire was a top sprinter and there's speed also on the dam's side of her pedigree, but Alwaysanangel runs more like a potential stayer. Whether she will go really long one day is another matter, but she will like stretching out to a mile. She finished best of all when third to next out stakes winners Senorita Bonita and Libertango in the Duchess of Cambridgeshire Stakes over 6 furlongs at Newmarket in July (her second start) and went from that performance to a Listed win over 7 furlongs at Cork, before taking a step up in class in the 6-furlong Cheveley Park Stakes back at Newmarket in September; when she pulled early but ran on well at the end and checked in third, 2 1/2 lengths behind SUN GODDESS. Closing that gap won't be easy but Alwaysanangel can improve and she is certainly a horse to include in the Trifecta plans.

DOMESTIC AGENADA, unfavorably drawn wide in gate 12, represents the powerful Chad Brown / Flavien Prat combination, and she looks the best hopes for the home team in this race. A daughter of American Pharoah from the family of New Orleans Classic winner Chess Chief, she has looked a smart prospect winning her two races to date, both over 8.5 furlongs on turf. She made a perfect start to her career at Saratoga in early September, winning by half a length from the more experienced rival Charlotte's Beach, who broke her maiden at Belmont Park next time out. Domestic Agenda also appeared at Belmont a month later, stepping up in class as the slight odds-on favorite for the Miss Grillo Stakes. She was pulling early and Prat held her up at the back before letting her stride forward going around the turn. Domestic Agenda proved much the best coming down the lane, but she lengthened more than she quickened - and drew gamely off to beat Bounce Back by 4 1/2 lengths. If anything, she gave the impression that going up to 9 furlongs would suit her best, and she now cuts back to a mile - in much stronger company. There are things to like about her CV, however; she was different class to Bounce Back; who is a maiden but was exiting a fourth placed finish 1 1/2 lengths behind BC Juvenile Fillies contender Voyager in the Natalma Stakes at Woodbine, and the two filling the places behind Bounce Back in the Miss Grillo had both won maiden heats at Saratoga. Note that Bounce Back is entered to run in R5 at Belmont Park on Thursday. >>>

CURRACLOE, trained by former world class rider Johnny Murtagh, is hard to assess and impossible to leave out of the Trifecta plan. Coming here off more of a low key preparation she is unbeaten from two runs in Ireland, and with this one we really are guessing what the ceiling might be. Probably a fair bit higher than the form she has needed to win at Gowran Park and the Curragh; and her form in the 7-furlong Darley Fillies Stakes in November isn't that far below the top names in this field. Well, it is a good few lengths below but it would not be abnormal if she were to take the step up and threatens the the very best. She ran to Globeform 103p in the Fillies Stakes, winning well by 2 3/4 lengths from Alpine Wedding, who has some indirect and interesting formlines with G1 runners. She had won her previous race by 3 1/2 lengths from Haven, who has since been second in the prestigious Fillies Mile at Newmarket. Curracloe is talented, no doubt about that - but she ran on soft ground when winning her maiden and on heavy ground when she became a G3 winner. Her dam, Sassy Little Lila, was a high class 8 to 9-furlong turf runner who hit the board in the American Oaks at three and in the Just a Game at four. She loved firm ground.

VANTA has won all of her three races in California, taking a 5-furlong maiden at Del Mar in July, the Del Mar Juvenile Fillies Turf over a mile in September, and the Surfer Girl Stakes over the same distance at Santa Anita in October. She had Blockade behind her in second place in both of these stakes events, beating her by 2 1/2 lengths as the met at level weights at Del Mar and by 3/4 length when Vanta was conceding 4lbs at Santa Anita. Vanta came from well off the pace to win the Surfer Girl quite snugly. She was held up also in the Del Mar Juvenile Fillies Turf. Blockade had previously won a maiden by 8 lengths on the main track at Los Alamitos and run fifth 13 lengths behind Holmby in the Sorrento Stakes (also on dirt). Holmby has since hit the board behind BC Juvenile contenders Miss Monica in the Del Mar Debutante and Domain Expansion in the Oak Leaf Stakes (albeit beaten 7 3/4 lengths and 7 lengths) . Big Blast, who was third behind Vanta in the Surfer Girl, was a neck-winner of a Del Mar maiden on her subsequent outing, beating Miss Mo Brown, who franked the form by winning a maiden event at Santa Anita next time she ran. Vanta has not met high class opposition but she has been winning her races in a no-nonsense way, and she is a potential improver.

CONCLUSION: The two best juvenile fillies in Europe, Amusingly and Sun Goddess, are going head to head at the Breeders' Cup; what a fantastic scenario. Sun Goddess is odds-on with the bookmakers but these two really should be closer to co-favorites. Amusingly is good value at 4-1. She was so impressive at Longchamp and she probably has most upside. With her as the top selection, Sun Goddess becomes the obvious B-horse. Three other Euros plus Chad Brown's Domestic Agenda fit best as C-horses.

GLOBEFORM ANALYSIS

AMERICAN HISTORY was an impressive 7 3/4-length winner over 6.5 furlongs at Saratoga on his debut, totally outclassing Art Museum (who was second to odds-on winner Hullabaloo Ray Ray next time out); and Todd Pletcher soon identified this son of Constitution as his Breeders' Cup Juvenile contender. Interestingly, Pletcher has only six horses heading to the championship weekend, and they are all juveniles. American History looks to be his best chance of coming away with a win and, judged on how he won the Breeders' Futurity over this course and distance four weeks ago, he is a very serious horse. Stepping steeply up both in class and distance, American History came from well off the pace after a tardy start to catch COACH POPE and win the race by a length. Q B Rocket, who had beaten two next out winners when winning well on his debut at Saratoga, was a neck behind Coach Pope in third place. Coach Pope was odds-on to win the Breeders' Futurity and it was easy to see why; he had won a mile maiden at Churchill Downs by 12 1/2 lengths on his previous start. Prior to that, Coach Pope made his debut in what was the best 2yo maiden heat at Saratoga, taking second half a length behind GAUDREAU, with U S S Valor a close third. U S S Valor was deeply impressive as he broke his maiden next time out, and even more so when he humiliated Gaudreau wrapped up 6 1/2 lengths in front of him in the Champagne Stakes at Belmont Park. U S S Valor would have been long odds-son if lining up in the BC Juvenile but connections decided to bypass this opportunity and focus on a campaign that will hopefully take him to next year's Kentucky Derby.

It's hard to make choice between American History and Hughes. Hughes has been more flashy, but against horses that would have no chance in this event. American Promise has beaten horses coming off strong performances against other potential graded stakes winners. In capturing the Breeders' Futurity, American History is the one who has won the deepest prep. Runner-up Coach Pope's formline is the most obvious one but take a look at the result of Brad Cox's Q B Rocket's win at Saratoga. He beat Chad Brown's Card Man eased up by 1 3/4 lengths, with Steve Asmussen's Decimation 4 1/4 lengths further back in third place. Card Man won by 5 lengths at Belmont Park next time out; Decimation won by 7 lengths at Keeneland next time out. Indirect formlines can be misleading but here we have two results suggesting that Q B Rocket is very smart. The Breeders' Futurity betting also suggested that; as he was actually the second favorite and more than two points shorter than American History. Furthermore, Title Worthy (a distant fourth in the Breeders' Futurity), had won both of his previous races, most notably a Churchill allowance race easily by 6 lengths.

HUGHES, an imposing son of Into Mischief, has won all of his four races in California, and he comes here as a likely short priced favorite. After winning easily over 5 furlongs at Los Alamitos in June, Bob Baffert contender has been stepped gradually up in distance, and he had no trouble with 8.5 furlongs in the American Pharoah Stakes at Santa Anita in early October. In between these two races he won the 6-furlong Best Pal Stakes at the 7-furlong Del Mar Futurity (both by open lengths). The question in the American Pharoah was regarding distance, and Hughes was racing too freely early on - though eventually settled into a good rhythm, racing with great zest just off the pace. He took charge at the top of the lane and soon had the race won, cruising home by 6 lengths as the 1/3 favorite. Net Par, a Californian bred colt who had won the Graduation Stakes two starts back, finished second, 9 1/2 lengths in front of Imperial Honor (a Baffert trainee coming off a 5 1/4-length debut win). Net Par was having his fifth run in the American Pharoah and we know enough about him to say that he's not a genuine G1 performer, but Hughes had plenty in hand (he has been rated as an 8-length winner) and he's open to further improvement. He may not have beaten much and he has not returned exceptional ratings but he has not needed to either. He is an obvious win contender.

COACH POPE must also be respected in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile. After his good debut at Saratoga he broke his maiden by 12 1/2 lengths absolutely on the bridle over a mile at Churchill Downs in September. Going off at 2/5 to win the 12-runner race, he was prominent all the way and turned the strettch run into a procession, with Bill Mott's newcomer a distant second. Coach Pope ran about six lengths faster than the Pocahontas winner Manuka Honey on the same day. The two races has almost identical fractions up to seven furlongs, and Coach Pope covered the last furlong in 12.75. It needs a mention that Manuka Honey looked somewhat one paced though, so perhaps we should not read too much into this time comparison.

What's just as interesting is that three horses who were a long way behind Coach Pope in his maiden race all ran well at Churchill Downs on Sunday. Fullback (2nd) and Monnie (3rd) both hit the board behind the smart colt Fools Rush In (heavily backed Brad Cox trainee); while Beardstown (5th) won stylishly in a maiden on turf. There can be little doubt that Ken McPeek's Juvenile contender is a high class colt.

Coach Pope and Q B Rocket ran hard all the way in the Breeders' Futurity and, in setting a strong pace, they did produce a scenario that suited American History, but he was less experienced and he raced a bit erratically down the back stretch, still managed to get the better of them. Coach Pope can also improve, but he had a hard race three weeks ago and there must be a fear of a bounce.

GAUDREAU came up well short when beaten by U S S Valor in the one-mile Champagne Stakes at Belmont Park, where he was ridden prominently. U S S Valor looks an absolute freak - he could have won by much further than the 6 1/2 lengths - but Gadreau also ran a good race. Let's not forget that he beat COACH POPE and U S S Valor when breaking his maiden first time out at Saratoga. That was over 6.5 furlongs though, and perhaps this son of Nyquist is more of a sprinter than a horse we will see winning big races around two turns. His dam, Free Cover, won over 6 and 6.5 furlongs and ran third in the 7-furlong Dogwood Stakes. She is a full sister to Victory Is Sweet, a 6-furlong winner who ran second in the Chick Lang Stakes, also over 6 furlongs. Gadreau's full sister Undercover Girl has won over 5.5 furlongs at two and over a mile at three. UPDATE: GAUDREAU HAS BEEN SCRATCHED

SALAHUDIN, who overcame a slow start to win the Iroquois Stakes over a mile in September, does not seem to be lacking in stamina and he is also open to improvement. This step up in distance will suit the son of Uncle Mo, but he needs to move forward quite a bit again to win the Breeders' Cup Juvenile. The Iroquois, where he got up to win by half a length from HE IS NO LIE, was a performance almost on a par (ratings wise) with what happened when he beat Grand Yaupon by 4 1/2 lengths in the 7-furlong in the Ellis Park Juvenile in August. Grand Yaupon won a Saratoga maiden but he has run poorly in two starts after the Ellis event (last in the Bowman Stakes, Keeneland on Saturday).

HE IS NO LIE, beaten a long way when fourth to HUGHES in the Best Pal Stakes at Del Mar, had previously been second just a head behind Blessed Flyer in the Bashford Manor Stakes at Churchill Downs. Blessed Flyer did little for that piece of form when finishing fourth in the Street Sense Stakes at Churchill Downs on Sunday, beaten 7 1/4 lengths behind Jas.

GLOBEFORM'S BREEDERS' CUP SERVICE

CONCLUSION: A strong pace would favor American History, a staying type from the family of Vekoma, while a slow to moderate fractions would almost certainly suit Hughes best. This is a relatively short field but there is enough speed signed on to expect at least an honest pace; and American History gets the vote. Seeing Hughes winning would be no surprise at all though American History is the one whose form has been confirmed as very good by various formlines; most recently when three horses who had all been slammed by his Futurity runner-up Coach Pope all ran well on Sunday. With those results in mind, Coach Pope has to be a B-horse, alongside Hughes. Baffert's colt looks like the real deal but he has yet to meet potential G1 horses.

GLOBEFORM ANALYSIS

FOLSOM BLUES is one of the best juveniles in Europe, having won the National Stakes impressively at the Curragh in September and run second to Breeders' Cup Juvenile Fillies Turf contender Amusingly in the Prix Jean Luc Lagardere at Longchamp in October. These are top level events over 7 furlongs, but Folsom Blues should have no problems with a mile at Keeneland. Although, it needs mentioning that the two runs sent contrasting message about his stamina. He finished very strongly from off the pace when beating his stable companion Monogram by 6 lengths in Ireland, but was cut down late when Amusingly came with her excellent turn of foot at the finish in France. However, horses who get 7 furlongs over straight tracks in Europe almost as a rule do well over mile around turning tracks in North America and Folsom Blues is a n obvious win contender. He was beaten 1 1/4 lengths by the filly in the Lagardere, where he was 1 3/4 lengths in front of the third placed MAN'S BEST FRIEND, who got third by a nose from another Aidan O'Brien trainee, FLORIDA BAY. These two also line up here and the one that sticks out as a value bet at a very big price is Florida Bay. He was much further behind Folsom Blues in the National Stakes (third, 7 1/4 lengths) and this colt has had plenty of racing. Still, the way he has been running makes me think that he will be ideally suited by the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf. Florida Bay is sharp from the gates (not many Euros are) and he has a high cruising speed. Despite making his seventh start, he did look a bit green at Longchamp, where he faded a bit late. There's every chance that this son of Mehmas is a sprinter but we should take a shot at this contender. He has a good post position and his best rating puts him right up with the best in this contest. Also note that he has beaten FOLSOM BLUES once and that he ran a good second to Giant Sequoia in the Futurity Stakes back in August. Giant Sequoia, also trained by O'Brien, was an impressive winner of a G1 at Doncaster last weekend and is now one of the future book favorites from next year's classics in England. Bookmakers have Florida Bay as big as 25-1 and he could well be an even bigger price at Keeneland, where there will be a lot more focus on others. He is well worth an each-way or across the board interest. Regarding stamina; his dam won over 9 furlongs and is a half-sister to Reggane, who won the 10-furlong E P Taylor Stakes at Woodbine. >>>

HOW'S AL TODAY is the one who could foil these European raiders. This imposing son of Munnings is coming off two deeply impressive wins at Kentucky Downs, where he beat Jas comfortably by 4 1/2 lengths in the Juvenile Mile in September. Coming from off the pace, How's Al Today was so much the best in that event, quickening past rivals before stretching out for an easy win without being fully extended. AGATE was staying on to get third, 1 3/4 lengths behind Jas. How good was the form? At the time it was hard to say, but we were soon given a clue, as Agate went on to a solid win in the Bourbon Stakes at Keeneland in October. Coming from well off the pace troubled by some traffic, Agate was far too good for his rivals in that contest, taking the race by 1 3/4 lengths from Bold Leadership, who was exiting a close second to LIAM'S LAW in the With Anticipation Stakes at Saratoga. This result was a nice boost to HOW'S AL TODAY's form and there was more to follow. Jas, who enjoyed a perfect trip but had no chance whatsoever when How's Al Today attackedvin the Juvenile Mile, beat a good field to land the Street Sense Stakes at Churchill Downs on Sunday, hammering home the message that How's Al Today is a high class juvenile; and he is without doubt open to further improvement. He ran on dirt when winning his debut over 5.5 furlongs at Saratoga and when third in the Saratoga Special, but turf racing is clearly his game. He meets much stiffer competition in the Breeders' Cup Juvenile Turf, but he is probably going to be up to the task. With a better post position than Folsom Blues and Great Barrier Reef, he is taken to come out on top and keep this prize at home. He can be backed at 6-1 and 7-1 with bookmakers and that really is good value.

GREAT BARRIER REEF, drawn unfavourably in post 14, won the 6-furlong Coventry Stakes at Royal Ascot in June; flashing speed all the way and taking the race by half a length from Adaay Of Scarlett, with Royal Heritage a close third. Adaay Of Scarlett was second, beaten a length by MAN'S BEST FRIEND, in the 6-furlong Richmond Stakes on his next start but has since disappointed three times. The Coventry Stakes was not up its usual high standard this year, but Great Barrier Reef has proved that he is a very smart colt. He was beaten a neck by Push The Boat Out when odds-on to follow up in the Round Tower Stakes at the Curragh in late August, then took a nice step up with a strong performance to get third in the Dewhurst Stakes over 7 furlongs at Newmarket in October. Traditionally the best 2yo event in England, the Dewhurst had just five runners this time and the impressive Champagne Stakes winner Desert Castle was 10-11 to win it. Aidan O'Brien saddled two contenders and his main hope Darkness Falls was well backed after a sharp performance at home in Ireland. He got the better of the favorite, beating Desert Castle by a neck after a great tussle, with Great Barrier Reef 2 1/4 lengths further back in third. Short of room and somewhat stymied at a crucial stage of the finish, he ran better than the margins suggested in the Dewhurst, and he is one of the top win contenders in the Juvenile Turf, but his form does not justify having him as a short priced favorite, particularly with this difficult post position.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND went from a maiden win at Naas to success in the 6-furlong Richmond Stakes at Goodwood in July, coming with a fine run to beat Great Barrier Reef's Coventry runner-up Adaay Of Scarlett by a lenght; and he produced even better form as he checked in third behind Amusingly and FOLSOM BLUES in the Prix Jean Luc Lagardere over 7 furlongs at Longchamp in October (beating FLORIDA BAY by a nose for third place). This form makes Man's Best Friend a horse to consider for Trifecta players.

AVEC TOI, who has been a fast and precocious juvenile in France, finished sixth, beaten 5 1/4 lengths in the Prix Jean Luc Lagardere. It was his first defeat in five starts but ratings show that the performance was almost as good as his easy 4-length win in the Prix Six Perfections at Deauville in August (beat Silver Dominion by 4 lengths). Well drawn in post 2 he can't be ruled out entirely but his form seems to be levelling out and he may find it hard to improve. All of his runs have been over 7 furlongs; and he has raced like six would suit him better.

HAFFNER is also beginning to look exposed, but he is coming off a win where he reproduced his previous best form. This well bred son of Justify won the 7-furlong Acomb Stakes at York, beating Gentle Hurricane by 2 lengths, was then disappointing in seventh behind FOLSOM BLUES in the National Stakes at the Curragh, only to come right back with a good run in the one-mile Royal Lodge Stakes at Newmarket two weeks later, beating Burning Up readily by 1 1/4 lengths. Burning Up was a well beaten fourth behind Giant Sequoia in the Futurity Trophy at Doncaster last week, while Gentle Hurricane (2nd in the Acomb) ran fourth in the Dewhurst Stakes (beaten 1 1/4 lengths by GREAT BARRIER REEF, who was third). >>>

CONCLUSION: Going for a US based 2yo against Euro invaders in a BC event on turf may seem risky; but there's so much to like about How's Al Today. The form of his big stakes win at Kentucky Downs has been franked twice since, he is sure to stay this mile, he is well drawn and; perhaps most important; he has been winning without having hard races. There's almost certainly more to come from Riley Mott's contender. Folsom Blues and Great Barrier Reef head a group of visitors with very good results on the other side of the pond. The form a strong group but they have one (not so appealing) thing in common; they have not been particularly consistent. It may seem that this year's youngster are not up the usual high standard in Europe this season. How's Al Today is well above what we normally see in this division in the US though, and he is the selection. Folsom Blues and Great Barrier Reef become the logical B-horses, despite high draws, while potential pace setter Florida Bay is the value. Morning line 20-1 is too big about him. Haffner likewise has the profile of a Trifecta contender; while Agate also needs to be included in the Tri plan. With How's Al Today as the top choice it would look silly to slip up if he wins and Agate, who ran third to him and has improved since, were to hit the board. Players wanting to go deeper should consider including Man's Best Friend.
